2011 LONG ISLAND WOODWORKERS SHOW

Please consider joining us this year for our 16th annual Woodworking show on November 12th and 13th, 2011.

For the third year our show will be located at Old Bethpage Village Restoration (OBVR) in Bethpage, Long Island. For those not familiar with this location, it is a smaller version of Old Sturbridge Village in MA. We will have a large modern but rustic appearing building on the village grounds with about 10,000 sq ft. The OBVR grounds are centrally located on Long Island just about 5 minutes or less from the Long Island Expressway.

There is plenty of available parking and Museum visitors will have access to our show and your products. OBVR has given us very attractive rates if we do not charge admission so we have decided to make this a free admission show to the public! We intend to finance the show with raffles and vendor fees. We will have 20 or more select vendor spaces. Those of you who have exhibited with us in the past know the effort and support we extend to our vendors.

Hope you will decide to join with us again in 2011.
